

Improve Efficiencies in Your Regulatory Compliance and Identification Processes

GreenRx-ID™ brings real expertise and skill in developing innovative identification solutions to testing laboratories, cultivation centers and dispensaries. As the industry becomes increasingly regulated, it makes sense to work with a company that has experience in bar code labeling. GreenRx-ID can help you design an identification workflow tailored to your operation. We can integrate all the elements you need for product labeling and more.

We know how important it is ensure that you accurately identify your specimens, plants or products and meet the compliance requirements dictated by the regulatory bodies. Being out of compliance is costly, inefficient and can have a significantly negative impact on your business.

Let us help you remove the inefficiencies in your current system and increase your profitability. GreenRx-ID can help you accurately track, monitor and properly identify your most valuable assets.
